President’s Message ... Maya Prabhu

In this month’s message, I would like to discuss the subject of vicarious traumatization. I was unfamiliar with this terminology until I read a beautifully written article by Deborah Rudacille in the Fall 2010 issue of the Johns Hopkins Magazine. The subject matter was described in context to other health-care professionals but dentists, in my opinion, should not be left out. The emotional toll of dealing with stressful situations on a regular basis may put us also at risk for burnout or compassion fatigue. This would be the “colloquial” definition of vicarious trauma. As dentists, we enjoy the dubious distinction of having one of the highest suicide rates amongst professions but if this is any consolation, a search of Internet sites failed to categorically prove this claim! Be that as it may, how many times have we taken our stresses from work back home and unsuccessfully tried to disengage ourselves so that it does not affect other parts of our lives? It is tough enough to deal with the minutia of our trade where precision is the key, but we also deal with people who come with a host of issues, some beyond the scope of our expertise. According to the author, vicarious traumatization can

“Geriatric Pharmacology”

Featured Speaker: Dr. Elliot Hersh

The geriatric dental patient often presents a challenge to the practicing dentist. In addition to requiring complex treatment plans, the older patient often presents with a variety of medical problems requiring the intake of multiple drugs. Side effects and adverse drug interactions often become the norm in these patients. This presentation will focus on the physiologic changes that affect drug response in older individuals and highlight some important drug interactions that are of relevance to the busy clinician.

Dr. Hersh is a Professor of Pharmacology at the University of Pennsylvania School of Dental Medicine. He also serves as one of the University’s IRB Chairs. He holds DMD, MS and PhD degrees from UMDNJ. He has won numerous teaching honors including the Basic Science Teaching Award 16 of the last 19 years and the Lindback Award for Distinguished Teaching, the highest teaching honor bestowed by the University. He has been an invited lecturer to numerous dental and medical organizations. He has more than 100 publications, abstracts and book chapters to his credit and conducts clinical trials in the areas of local anesthesia and pain control. He has been one of the principal investigators in the clinical development of such products as Orudis® KT, Advil® Liquigels, Lodine® -XL, Septocaine® with 1:200,000 epinephrine and most recently Oraverse®, a novel local anesthetic reversal agent. Dr. Hersh was the 2007 recipient of the IADR’s Distinguished Scientist Award in Pharmacology, Therapeutic and Toxicology.

Attendance: Ashmen, Bernstein, Brunsdn, Desai, Govitrikar, Kahn, Krantz, Mir Madjlessi, Prabhu, Rizzi, Rosen, Savage, Schambra, Silverstein, Simos, Stein, Villa, Vitale, Weiner and Marlene Glickman

President's Report-Maya Prabhu

The lecture by Dr. David Sirois on March 15th will be the Sy Symanski Memorial lecture and the award will be presented by Dr. Brunsdn. 86 members/guests have already registered for Dr. Tanaka's course on April 8th. Dr. Stein expressed concern about marketing of courses. Pros & cons and the need for trifold marketing and flyers for future programs were discussed. Dr. Vitale suggested that AEGD residents from hospital programs across the area be contacted. It was decided to post the lecture dates on our Facebook page to get more information out and to reach more dentists.

MCDS will be applying for the Golden Apple Awards this year. Dr. Mitch Weiner will be submitting the advantages of electronic media that our membership has clearly benefited from. A sub-committee will convene to develop a set protocol to strategize marketing of our full day CE events. The BOT passed a motion to support the presence of undergraduate dental students who may wish to attend the monthly dinner meetings.

Treasurer's Report-David Stein

Secretary's Report-Nainesh Desai

For 2011-2012, nominations and names of representatives from MCDS for NJDA delegates, alternate delegates and council members for various councils of NJDA were finalized and agreed upon by the board. The list will be sent to Ms. Phyllis Cortazzo at NJDA

Educational Coordinator-Alyssa Bernstein

SOCIAL MEDIA REPORT

Dr. Gautam Govitrikar will be managing social media websites/pages for MCDS. It was decided not to put newsletter up on the social media pages since our newsletter is a member only benefit and is exclusive to the members of our county dental society.

NJDA Trustee's Report-Mark Vitale

General supervision legislation for dental hygienists is moving forward and the talk about eliminating the Medicaid program in the state of New Jersey has been squashed.

NJDA Council Reports:

Annual Session-Nainesh Desai

The next Council on Annual Session meeting will be on March 23rd, 2011. The Garden State Dental Conference and Expo 2011 will be a weekend event at The Ocean Place Resort in Long Branch, NJ, on June 24-26, 2011. Please mark your calendars and join us to honor and support Dr. Richard Kahn, our longtime member and the President of NJDA, at the all new Garden State Dental Conference and Expo. Bring your family and staff for a true Jersey Beach weekend this summer.

Membership-Tara Savage

NJDA would like to implement a new non-member recruitment campaign in 2011. They have identified eleven past presidents to be involved in the campaign. These individuals have been selected because they are both passionate about organized dentistry (and the NJDA in particular) and very knowledgeable creep up insidiously and may manifest in little changes with respect to appearance or behavior. The onset of symptoms could begin with a gradual disinterest in the simple pleasures of life that were once considered enjoyable. Ultimately, it could lead to feelings of helplessness and loss of productivity. Obviously, the first step that we could take as professionals is to simply be aware of such an issue and employ self-care strategies. Routinely talking to colleagues or close friends has proved to be invaluable. I discuss cases with my partners regularly, and it gives me a sense of relief to know that the situation was not unique to me and helps me overcome my temporary feelings of inadequacy. A study club is another great forum to give vent to frustrations that are encountered in private practice. I strongly urge younger dentists to join a local study club that has other tangible benefits besides the available CE. To discuss one's vulnerability with a group of peers is a demonstration of strength, rather than a weakness. It shows that you care enough to seek advice. And in this particular case of vicarious trauma, you seek the help of other like-minded individuals to maintain a healthy balance in your professional life. As the author succinctly states, "we face the delicate task of creating enough emotional distance to be effective (with patients) while remaining engaged enough to offer support." See you at the next meeting!

strategy for future courses. Options on making a policy for dental students who wish to attend our general membership meeting were discussed. Cost issues and member loyalty were the main topics of discussion.

After much discussion, Dr. Ira Rosen made a motion that would allow any undergraduate dental students to attend the monthly meetings of the Middlesex County Dental Society at the Pines Manor at a cost that shall be borne by the dental society. This motion will be reviewed annually in conjunction with the MCDS budget and revised as deemed appropriate by the Board of Trustees. The motion was seconded by Dr. Mitch Weiner and passed unanimously. The goal of this motion is to encourage dental students to become involved in organized dentistry.

Good & Welfare

We all expressed our condolences to Dr. Sandy Goldstein on the passing of his father.

Respectfully Submitted,

Nainesh Desai

Treatment Planning Sequence for Implant Dentistry

June 24, 2011

2011 Garden State
Dental Conference & Expo
Ocean Place Resort & Spa
Long Branch, New Jersey

Carl E. Misch BS, DDS, MDS

There is an art form and a science to implant dentistry. The art form is primarily related to esthetics. The science is based on the biomechanical aspects of stress. As a consequence, a theorem for implant dentistry has been developed over the years by Dr. Misch and states most every aspect related to the science of implants should consider the biomechanics of stress.

Dr. Misch has developed an implant treatment planning sequence based upon stress as an implant axiom. Each of the steps below will be addressed for the development of a treatment plan to reduce short and long-term complications.

Topics Include:

- Prosthesis design
- Patient force factors
- Bone density
- Implant key positions & implant number
- Implant size
- Available bone
- Implant design

Full Day CE Program 7 CEUs

Dr. Terry Tanaka: Treatment Planning Guidelines for Restorative and Prosthodontic Problems

Sponsored by Kuwata PanDent Open to Doctors and Staff

Friday April 8, 2011 8 am to 4 pm

Terry T. Tanaka, D.D.S., is Clinical Professor at the University of Southern California, School of Dentistry, Advanced Education Prosthodontics and maintains a private practice in prosthodontics in Chula Vista, California. Dr. Tanaka holds fellowships in the Academy of Dentistry International, American College of Dentists, International College of Dentists and Master in the Academy of General Dentistry, and is a Diplomate, American Board of Orofacial Pain. He has published numerous articles and is widely recognized for his teaching of advanced restorative and prosthodontic procedures and as a research anatomist. An active Rotarian, he helped found the Thousand Smiles Foundation Cleft Lip and Palate Surgery and Dental Care Mission Clinics that provide free craniofacial reconstructive surgeries and dental care for needy children in Latin America. He is especially pleased that the Academy of Dentistry International has named an award the Terry Tanaka Student Humanitarian Award and presented to a Junior dental student who exhibits his kind of humanitarianism.

Important diagnostic criteria for the restoration of every-day restorative problems will be presented in this interactive program that will highlight what is taught in advanced graduate restorative programs that is critical to the success of all restorations. New guidelines will be presented on how age, gender, facial morphology and oral habits affect the dentition and the overall well being of our patients. Doctors, dental assistants and dental hygienists will have an opportunity to treatment plan together as a team using these universal guidelines developed by Dr. Tanaka.

Practical diagnostic guidelines for the treatment of patients with temporomandibular disorders will be presented with indications for effective stabilizing splints and how they are used for patients with tooth wear problems. In addition, videos on how to fabricate splints in your own office and how to adjust the splints in the mouth in 5 minutes will be part of this comprehensive and interactive program. Come prepared with pen and paper, this is an "interactive workshop."
